

UNCG LIS E-Hub Workshops

Makerspace is all the buzz these days, but what really
IS a makerspace?

What do librarians need to know?

A team from UNCG University Libraries (Beth Filar Williams, Brown Biggers, and Michelle Folkman) will provide a short introduction at a series of events sponsored, in part, by a North Carolina State Library LSTA Innovation grant.

Workshops will provide a chance to learn makerspace technologies and concepts hands-on! Co-sponsored as a UNCG e-hub event, the events are open to present LIS students, alumni, and other librarians working in the area.
